

Discipline is formed when a person makes an inward decision to Submit to Outward Discipline and is then able to form Inward Discipline.

After being self-discipline, a person can then form discipline in others.

Discipline is formed based on a person's decisions to submit to the authority and structure in their life.

